About Us

Divina Construction has been involved in the building and construction industry for many years and has had a great deal of experience in identifying problems, issues and stumbling blocks that influence the completion of projects on time as well as the required quality of these various types of projects.

The majority of the problems can normally be ascribed to accepted rules and practices not being followed as well as the lack of experienced and trained staff which is applicable to both existing and emerging Consultants and Contractors.

Divina Construction is a 100 % black female owned company.
